Craig's Mr Consistent!

CRAIG Johnston, Middlesbrough's live-wire midfield player has leapt to the top of our Matchman of the Year charts.

Each week in Match Weekly we plot the performance of EVERY player in the Football League and Scottish Premier — now we have reached the half way stage in the season and Johnston leads the First Division field.

Close behind in Johnston's midfield section comes the elegant Frans Thijssen of Ipswich and the eloquent Graeme Souness of Liverpool, while Anfield team-mate Kenny Dalglish has underlined his consistency with an amazing 7.54 average mark to top the strikers list.

Tony Morley, who has scored some great goals in Aston Villa's surge is close behind.

Though he has suffered from injury Paul Cooper of Ipswich heads the 'keeper charts ahead of Everton's Jim McDonagh and it's an Ipswich

REPORT

THOSE two talented midfield masters of West Ham, Trevor Brooking and Alan Devonshire, dominate the Second Division averages.

Their class has shone through again this season, while Sheffield Wednesday's Terry Curran and Orient's John Chiedozie have shown tremendous consistency with their entertaining form on the wing.

Chesterfield's Alan Birch has caught the eye in the Third Division, just ahead of Rotherham's Tony Towner. But it's impossible to split Lincoln's Mick Harford and Northampton's Steve Phillips in the Fourth.

It's a tough battle in Scotland, too, where three players head the challenge . . . Alex MacLeish of Aberdeen, Jim Bett of Rangers and Alex MacDonald of Hearts.

The best gets better

AS ANOTHER footballing year draws to a close Match Weekly looks forward to 1981 with the promise that we will continue to bring you all that's best about the game.

We know we've been giving you what you want from a football magazine in the past year because you have continued to tell us so in the hundreds of letters that have arrived at our offices.

And we'll be looking to provide an even better magazine in the year ahead.

It's been another great year for football and especially for the teams that won the major honours . . . and of course their loyal fans.

Liverpool collected the League title for the second year in succession . . . Nottingham Forest won the European Cup for the second year running . . . West Ham won the FA Cup . . . Wolves won the League Cup . . . Aberdeen won the Scottish Championship . . . Celtic won the Scottish FA Cup and Dundee United took the Scottish League Cup.

We promise to keep you on the ball when the major honours are decided again next year . . . so keep buying your copy of Match Weekly and keep up to date with what promises to be another great year.

A Happy New Year to all our readers from everyone at Match and don't forget our January 3 issue is on sale next week as usual.

The Editor

And a Happy New Year

The start of a new year is traditionally the time for people to make promises to themselves in the form of New Year resolutions.

Here's a few suggested resolutions for some of the famous names of our game . . . and remember it's all in fun, gentlemen!

Crystal Palace manager MALCOLM ALLISON: To see a film on the life and times of escapologist Harry Houdini.

Manchester United boss DAVE SEXTON: To smile about something.

Norwich chief KEN BROWN: To admit to feeling the pressures of management to prove that he is human.

Match of the Day's JIMMY HILL: To let some of the other first division managers spread the gospel other than Lawrie McMenemy and John Bond.

Everton manager GORDON LEE: To give Malcolm Allison a few tips on job survival.

Ipswich midfielder JOHN WARK: Buy an alarm clock so that he can continue those perfectly timed runs into the penalty box.

England captain KEVIN KEEGAN: To make many more appearances in a Southampton shirt.

Bristol Rovers manager TERRY COOPER: To find something to smile about at Eastville.

Leeds United's ALEX SABELLA: To say: 'Ee by gum, lad' without the hint of a South American accent.

Fulham boss MALCOLM MACDONALD: To turn up on the wrong day and manage the other Fulham side.

Watford chairman ELTON JOHN: To see his beloved Watford climb out of the relegation area to avoid a hair-raising experience.

Cup saga

NON-LEAGUE sides Bridlington Trinity and Netherfield don't usually make national headlines.

But they forced their way into the limelight recently by producing the longest running cup tie in Football Association history.

Their FA Trophy second qualifying round match needed no fewer than six replays before Northern Premier League side Netherfield got a 2-0 verdict over their Midland League rivals.

It lasted a grand total of 13 hours, beating the previous record by two hours which was set up by Alvechurch and Oxford City in an FA Cup Fourth qualifying round clash nine years ago. Alvechurch won the tie 1-0 after five replays.

Programme bonanza

CALLING all programme collectors. The "Giant New Year Programme Fair" takes place at the Ivanhoe Hotel, Bloomsbury Street, London WC1 on Sunday (January 4).

The Fair is expected to attract over 1,500 avid collectors and there will be literally thousands of programmes on display ranging from pre-First World War items right up to the current season.

There will also be an exhibition stand featuring caps, championship medals, famous players shirts and, of course, rare programmes.

The fair runs from 10.30am to 4pm and admission is 40p (by programme at the door).

Euro Cup for boys

ENTRIES are now being accepted for a unique European invitation tournament to be staged near Ipswich at Easter for teams at under 18, under 16 and under 14 level.

Called the Ipswich Cup, the event takes place at the Euro Sports Village at Shotley on the east coast and many teams from Britain and western Europe are expected to take part over the three-day holiday from April 17-19.

The complex, on the site of the former HMS Ganges Royal Naval training centre, with its 12 pitches, three gyms, swimming pool and multi purpose sports hall, is undergoing a £5 million facelift and is expected to become Europe's leading soccer coaching venue.

Already top players Trevor Brooking, John Hollins, Brian Talbot, David Johnson, Paul Cooper and Gary Bailey have agreed to take residential courses, while Ipswich Town's Frans Thijssen and Arnold Muhren are planning a 'weekend' for young Dutch players.

Further information about the soccer tournament and coaching courses can be obtained from the Sports Director, Euro Sports Village, Shotley, Ipswich.

Cup strangers

Ipswich's UEFA Cup third round tie with Widzew Lodz of Poland set the Suffolk club a new record — it was the third successive time in the competition they had been drawn to meet a team from a country they had never visited before.

A real Euro hat-trick!

And who broke the news of the draw first? None other than Muhren and Thijsen, who tuned into Dutch radio as they broadcast the draw live from Zurich.

POPULAR Norwich City defender Phil Hoadley combines business with pleasure off the field. He breeds pedigree Old English Sheepdogs. Phil said: "I have one seven year old and two young bitches, plus a labrador. They are all part of a plan to start breeding and perhaps getting back some of the initial cost later on!"

MANCHESTER United really ought to change their name to Internationals Unlimited . . .

The club has had an incredible succession of internationals on their playing staff in modern times.

The rest are: Bobby Charlton, Brian Greenhoff, Gordon Hill, Brian Kidd, Ian Moore, Stuart

Family frolic

SOCER has become a family affair at Halifax.

Seventeen-year-old Simon Kirby, son of manager George Kirby and Simon Bullock, 17-year-old nephew of the club's coach Mick Bullock have both signed as full-time professionals.

And their League chance may come quicker than they think with Halifax currently rooted around bottom of the Fourth.

George fixed up for both boys to play in Finland during the summer — for the Youth side of First Division Haka — and between them scored 16 goals.

"But they both know they can expect no favours at Halifax. They will be treated like everyone else at the club," says George.

Learn from the stars on a PGL Soccer Holiday

PGL Young Adventure. The specialists and leaders in holidays for children and teenagers have joined forces with Kit Carson and Gary Johnson to produce a nationwide soccer coaching holiday system for players of all abilities between the ages of 8 and 18. It already has the support of top managers and international players. England's first ever soccer school was set up by Kit and Gary in 1975 with the help of Liverpool coaches and stars such as Steve Heighway. Since that time their C & G Soccer Club has become the biggest private soccer coaching organisation in the country. Players such as Trevor Brooking, David Johnson, Brian Talbot, John Hollins, Dai Davies, Steve Williams and others regularly assist and lend their support.

We provide a full programme of activities from arrival on Monday morning to departure on Friday afternoon. The boys are placed into groups, each with its own football coach. He is responsible for ensuring that everyone is coached to his fullest ability in all aspects of the game. There are matches as well as training sessions and indoor 5-a-side football, and if possible watching professionals train. Coaching films are shown in the evenings as teaching aids. A visit to the ground of a league club is also in the timetable, and if possible, an opportunity to watch the club's professionals training.

One afternoon of the week a star player takes a coaching session, a question and answer period and signs autographs.

The 30 courses at 7 different venues give everyone an opportunity to attend a course not too far from their home. All are residential with full board and accommodation so no travelling is involved each day to attend the course.

The courses are held in universities at Colchester, Manchester, (for the Liverpool and Manchester courses), Nottingham and Dundee. Southampton courses are at a beautiful centre in Swanage. Ipswich courses are held at the newly opened Eurosports village in nearby Shotley. Cheltenham's course takes place at Cheltenham College.

Many young professionals have attended these courses. Any talented young player and likewise those with only a basic knowledge of the game will really enjoy learning more about the game.

THE ROAD TO

STARDOM

Why Power once said 'no' to City

PAUL POWER, brains behind the Manchester City midfield, laid down the law when the club he had adored all his life offered apprentice terms at the age of 18.

Paul turned the Maine Road club down in favour of a law course at Leeds Polytechnic — a decision he has never regretted.

Paul told Match: "It has given me a second string when my playing days are over. And when I was at the Polytechnic I was still able to play for City reserves at the weekend."

It wasn't the first time that Paul had delayed his successful professional career. He first went down to Maine Road for training as a small 13-year-old after being spotted by chief scout Harry Godwin while playing for Manchester Sunday League side West Park Albion.

"I was a lot smaller and younger than the rest of the lads at the training sessions and I found I was overlooked when they picked sides for a game.

"I got disillusioned with that and packed it all in. Burnley came in for me soon after and offered a two-week trial, but I was a bit shy and didn't want to leave home."

Paul, who was born close to the City training ground, eventually put pen to paper for them when he left Leeds Polytechnic in July 1975.

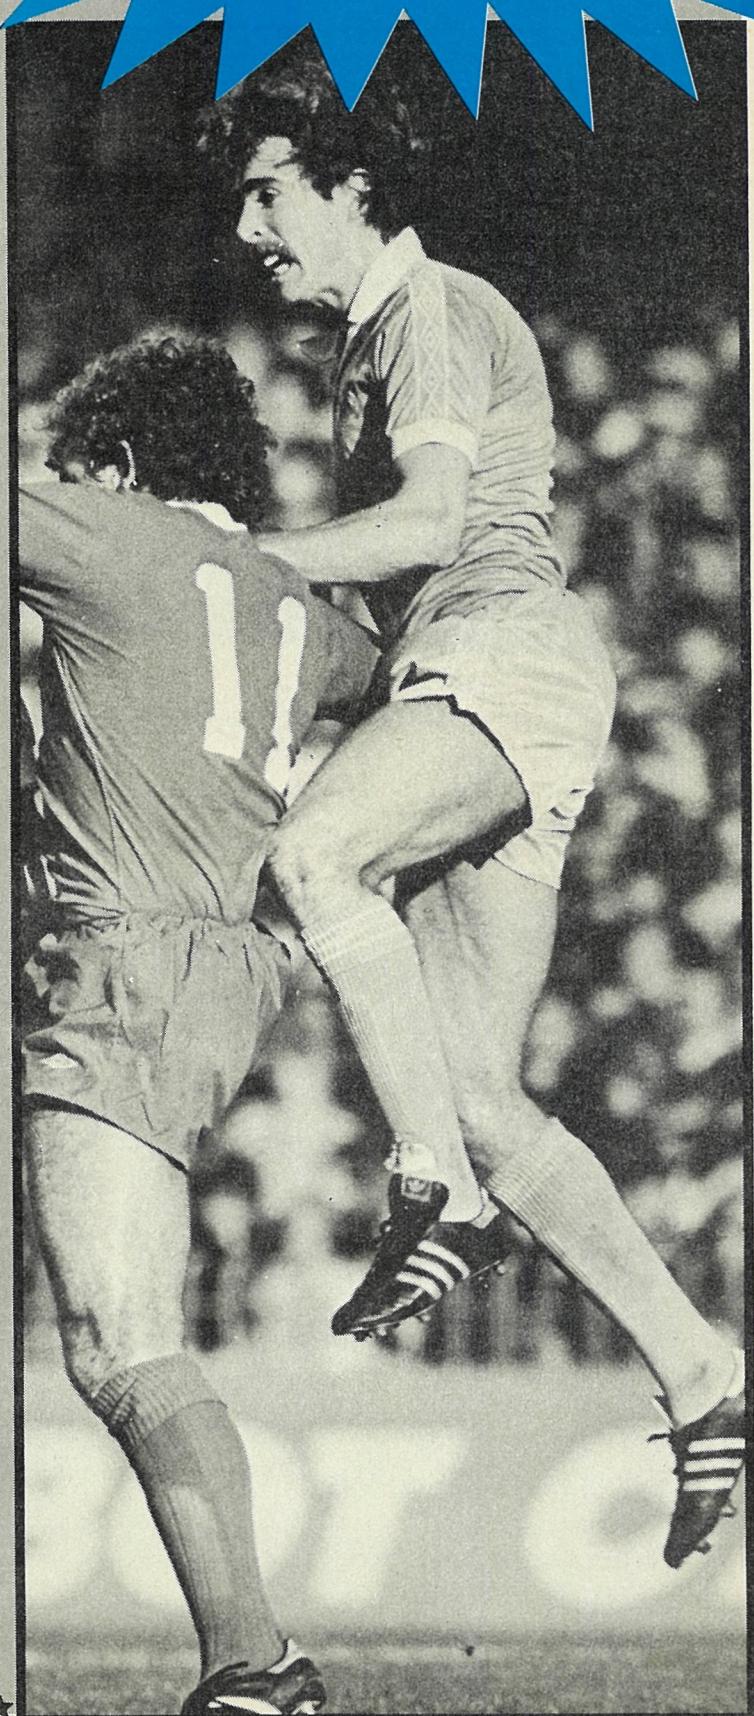

Within a month he was lining up for his debut against Aston Villa in a midfield that boasted Colin Bell, Rodney Marsh and Asa Hartford!

"Bell, Alan Oakes and Glyn Pardoe used to be my heroes when I supported City from the terraces and it was strange to play in the same team," Paul added.

"The other players used to call Bell 'Nijinsky' or 'The Baron' but he was my hero and I would never dream of calling him that."

BOBBY RUSSELL RANGERS

The Goalmakers

Who are the goalmakers? We have been asking the men in the know — the strikers for whom the chances are set up by these midfield maestros. Today, to complete the series, Rangers' Davie Cooper talks about team-mate Bobby Russell.

His right is so special and his left packs a wallop, says Davie Cooper

INJURY has ruled out Bobby Russell for much of Rangers' campaign this season, but he's back in action now and set to play a key role in the Ibrox club's challenge for the Scottish Premier League title.

Team-mate Davie Cooper (pictured left on the ball) gave Match this view of Bobby's qualities:

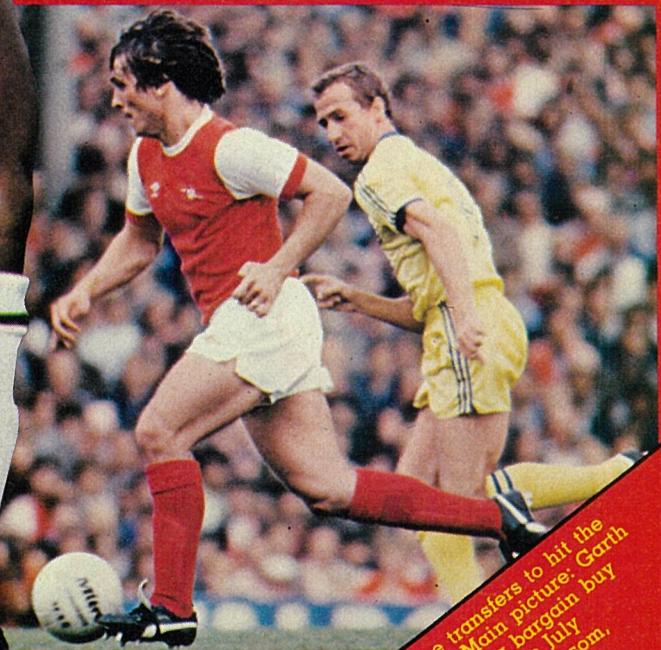

"He's a very difficult player to pin down," says Davie. "He is not afraid to take men on and that right foot of his is something special."

"It's not always recognised but he also packs a fair old wallop with his left foot."

"He has scored a number of goals with his left — when most people think he uses it just for standing on," quipped Davie.

TREVOR FRANCIS started it with his £1 million transfer from Birmingham to Nottingham Forest in February, 1979. Now the million-pound move is almost commonplace.

But how long can it go on for? There are strong moves by not only the Football Association and the Football League but also the club Chairmen and Secretaries as well as the Professional Footballers Association to call a halt to the spiral.

Says PFA delegate and Match Weekly columnist Steve Coppell, the Manchester United and England star:

"I'm wholeheartedly behind a move by the PFA to bring in a scale of transfer fees based on a player's earnings, the status of the club he's coming from or moving to, and the player's experience at club and international level.

"If we introduce a similar scale to that which operates in Germany, where it is rare to pay more than £200,000 for a top player, then perhaps clubs in England will be able to spend more on improved facilities at their ground without being strangled by an enormous fee for one player."

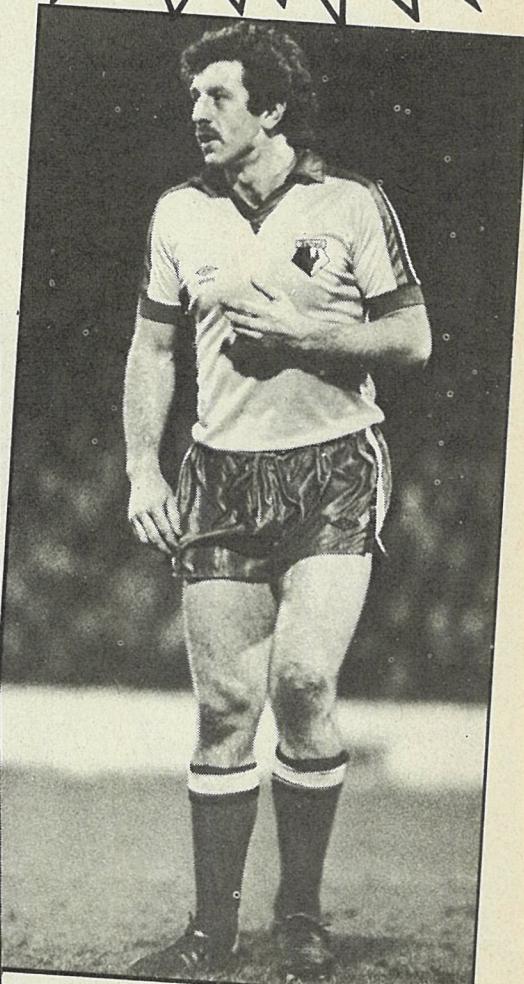

"And if things go wrong on the field they could still buy a player or two without too much difficulty."

Sensible thinking, but still the market is thriving as clubs continue to pay the price for the big names.

Here's a fascinating run down on the main moves since July . . .

Gerry Armstrong . . . Northern Ireland international, now enjoying good form with Watford following his move from Spurs.

January

I REMEMBER putting up a message on our electronic scoreboard asking the contractors on our new stand when we were likely to get a roof on it.

We are still working hard to pay off the debt, but it pleases me that 6,000 people are now able to sit and enjoy their football in good facilities.

February

A BIT of a dull month... won the Super Cup, beating Barcelona, defeated Liverpool in the semi-final of the League Cup — I was more elated that night at Anfield than during any other moment in my time at Forest — and turned down an offer to manage Greek club Olympiakos.

March

HAVING got to our third successive League Cup final, we then made a mess of it against Wolves. If the kids are naughty I make them watch a video film of the final with Peter Shilton and David Needham colliding and Andy Gray running the ball into an empty net!

Thankfully, we go immediately to East Germany and beat Dynamo Berlin with two goals out of nothing by Trevor Francis.

Shaw—my player of the year

PLAYER OF THE YEAR — Gary Shaw, of Aston Villa. I used to call him "Villa" during my short but successful reign as England youth team manager and I'm delighted he's scoring goals so regularly.

BARGAIN OF THE YEAR — Bob Paisley... that's what he's been for a few years. Marks and Spencers haven't got a bigger bargain.

CLANGER OF THE YEAR — I still hold that from the previous year, when I sold Archie Gemmill to Birmingham.

DISAPPOINTMENT OF THE YEAR — Being knocked out of the European Cup by C.S.K.A. Sofia.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE YEAR — Beating Liverpool to reach our third successive League Cup final.

VILLAIN OF THE YEAR — 91 League chairmen because I don't want to mention Hill Wood.

BORE OF THE YEAR — Mrs Thatcher because she keeps telling us we have to take our medicine.

HERO OF THE YEAR — Mr Thatcher.

Gary Shaw... I'm delighted he's scoring goals.

The Li

May

A NORMAL month in the life of B.C. We had a small matter of a European Cup final in Madrid but before we got there Stan Bowles walked out. Trevor Francis was injured, too, but we didn't make excuses and went out to Madrid and beat Hamburg (Kevin Keegan and all).

It was a great feeling to get our hands on that Cup again and set off back to our hotel in the Spanish hills. We felt better than we did when we won it the first time.

April

ALTHOUGH we were delighted to reach the European Cup final again, I was very disappointed losing to Ajax in Amsterdam in the semi-final second leg.

But what I remember most of the month is taking the team to the Persian Gulf to play a couple of games. I enjoyed it but I've never been on a trip where there were so many grumbles from players.

June

MOST managers were off on holiday, but there were still things to do — like signing Raimondo Ponte from Grasshoppers, of Zurich.

We were short in midfield and Ponte was available at the right price.

After the European Cup final, I had to consider an offer from Barcelona, but they should have come for Peter Taylor and I the minute we had beaten them in the Super Cup.

July

STILL no holiday . . . but Ian Wallace joins us from Coventry.

With Trevor Francis out for the rest of the year, we had to get someone and Ian fitted the bill and he has proved one of the most genuine players at the club.

We also fancied signing Liam Brady from Arsenal but his heart was set on going abroad and we never really had a chance of persuading him to stay in England.

Oh no, not that again! Dave Needham and Peter Shilton collide and that man Gray runs in Wolves' League Cup winner . . . to me, it's like a horror film!

FOREST BOSS BRIAN CLOUGH RECALLS AN EVENTFUL YEAR FOR THE EUROPEAN CHAMPIONS

Life of Brian . . .

August

THE BIG kick-off . . . or was it the big bust-up. Garry Birtles and I fell out initially over him wanting an extra holiday and then comments I made about him in Match Weekly.

What I did wrong — and it was my wife Barbara who pointed it out — was that I made the contents of a private conversation in my office public by reproducing it in this magazine.

It was just as wrong as some of the things that were written about us in a national newspaper for the following eight weeks..

September

WE LOST in Sofia to C.S.K.A. and that was the start of one or two problems but just after that we played exceptionally well to beat Leicester 5-0 and then put seven past Bury . . . and I don't want anybody saying "They were just a Fourth Division side."

But we couldn't manage a goal in the next match against Arsenal and a 1-0 defeat paved the way for the 'Black October'.

Left: Liam Brady . . . we fancied signing him in July

October

GOT OFF to a cracking start when we lost at home to C.S.K.A. to get out of Europe . . . and went from bad to worse.

We next lost at home against Manchester United and the month finished on a high note for Elton John when we came a cropper at Watford in the League Cup.

I was in Majorca at the time but the minute I heard we'd lost 4-1, the holiday turned into a nightmare . . . at least we made a few bob by selling Garry Birtles to Manchester United.

November

A POINT at Liverpool is always nice but to follow it with three defeats was particularly disturbing. And to lose by 0-3 to Tottenham on our own pitch was an absolute disaster.

But there was the odd plus — like being cleared by the F.A. of bringing the game in disrepute.

December

GETTING Trevor Francis back in action was tremendous for me, the club and, most of all, him.

Naturally we missed him but we tried to get on with the job to the best of our ability while he was finding his way back to fitness.

Perhaps his return is just the kind of spark we need to enter 1981 with hopes of further success.

Merry Christmas to all of you and a Happy New Year . . .

THE QUESTION

... with Peter Shilton and Ray Clemence. Six autographed records must be won.

THOUGH many fans are forever comparing the skills of Liverpool's Ray Clemence and Peter Shilton of Nottingham Forest, off the field England's top goalkeepers are the best of pals.

So much so, that they have made a record together on Polydor which could soon be racing up the Pop charts.

Peter and Ray have autographed six copies of the disc — Side by Side — and sent them to Match Weekly for a special Christmas competition prize.

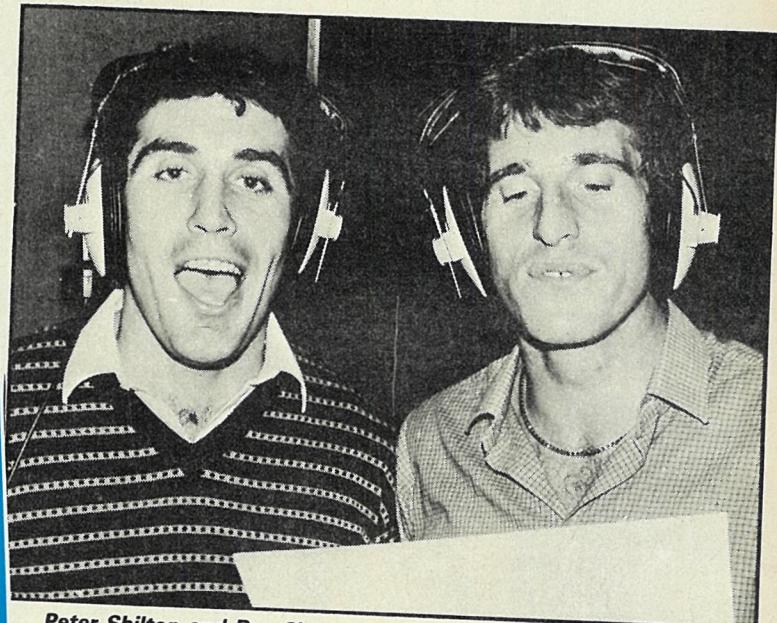

One of them could be yours if you can correctly answer these three questions the England men have set.

1 Shilton took over at Leicester City from an England goalkeeper. Was it?

- a) Ron Springett
- b) Gordon Banks

- c) Peter Bonetti
- 2 Clemence was born in a famous seaside resort. Was it?
 - a) Llandudno
 - b) Worthing
 - c) Skegness
- 3 On the final match of England's European tour on June 13, 1979 Clemence replaced Shilton at half-time. Was it against?
 - a) Austria
 - b) Bulgaria
 - c) Sweden

Send your answers on a postcard or the back of an envelope to Match Weekly (Record), Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough PE1 1UB and remember to include your name, and address. First six all correct entries picked from the total postbag on January 2 will receive a copy of the record personally autographed by the two England stars.

No player's worth a million

THE ENTERTAINMENT world is in difficult times . . . whether it be football, cinema, theatre or whatever . . . but my own opinion is that the game is not in need of any drastic changes.

I don't believe the state of football is as bad as some people say.

Various recommendations for change have been put forward, however . . .

Perhaps a points system that encourages the away side to go for a win is a good idea.

To that end awarding three points for a win may not be a bad thing.

I'm not so sure about clubs being given the chance to play their games on a Sunday.

It might sound nice to some people but I prefer things as they are now with all the games played on a set day.

Sunday football might be useful, however, to cope with postponements.

As for shortening the season I just don't know how it would work looking at all the fixtures.

For me the suggestion that: 'transfer fees should be paid off in a year with at least a 50 per cent deposit being paid' was the most sensible thing to come out of the League chairmen's meeting.

I think it's something that has to come. It's ridiculous that clubs are still paying money on when the player concerned has moved on.

It's the only way to get transfer fees down.

Personally I think it's ridiculous that a player can be considered to be worth £500,000 . . . let alone £1 million.

Trevor Francis (below) became the first £1 million player when Nottingham Forest signed him from Birmingham, but I think it's ridiculous that any player is considered to be worth half that much.

I'll be training on Christmas

Day!

MY CHRISTMAS celebrations will not start until we have played our two holiday games.

Even on Christmas Day when most of you will be sitting in front of the television after your lunch I will be on my way to the club for a training session.

Because we have a match on Boxing Day the players will report for a training session on Christmas Day.

I don't really have time to enjoy the festive season because it is our busiest time of the year — but I'm not complaining.

I accept it as part of the job; although it is tough on the players' wives and families.

It will be a very happy Christmas for me if Tottenham come away from our tough two day stint with four points.

We are at home to Southampton on Boxing Day, and straight after the game we will get into the team bus and head for Norwich, who we play the next day.

I don't like the idea of playing two games in such a short space of time. Players don't get enough time to recover from any knocks they may have picked up.

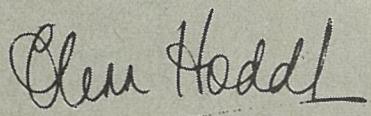

A game takes a lot out of you — I know how I feel on a Sunday morning — and to play two games in two days is asking a lot of a player.

But there is always a special cheery atmosphere among the crowd at these fixtures which helps lift the players.

Just let me wish all Match readers a very merry Christmas and a Happy New Year . . . you'll hear from me again in 1981!

OUTRAGED!

I'M Anthony Hawkswell and I'm in charge of the Outraged column.

I'll stand no nonsense... any back chat and you could get sent off!

I'll be giving the red card to what I judge to be the letter of the week. And yellow cards to any others published.

And to make it more interesting I'll pay £5 for the red card and £2 for each yellow card.

But be warned. I'm the ref and my decisions stand!

Send your letters to Outraged, Match Weekly, Midgate House, Midgate, Peterborough.

Don't write off Palace

I AM OUTRAGED at the number of people who are writing off Crystal Palace and saying that they will be relegated at the end of the season.

There's still a long way to go yet — who knows what may happen. Liverpool could have a bad patch and finish near the bottom, while Palace could end up near the top. Rolf Vaughan (13), South Ashford, Kent.

THERE'S about as much chance of Liverpool hitting a bad patch as Palace have of avoiding the drop. Appointing the man who took them down to Division Three looks like a panic move to me. You're booked.

Why I won't watch Forest

I LIVE in Nottinghamshire and my local First Division club is Forest but I wouldn't support them for all the tea in china!

I've got nothing against the players, or the fans. There's just one problem — Brian Clough! Catherine Derrick (15), Retford, Notts.

WHAT a pathetic excuse for not going along to watch Forest. Surely, you go through the turnstiles to watch the players, not manager.

Pick Lukic now, Ron!

I'M OUTRAGED that John Lukic of Leeds United is not the full England team goalkeeper.

I believe that Liverpool's Ray Clemence is over the top, Peter Shilton of Nottingham Forest is over-rated, and Manchester City's Joe Corrigan has never been international class.

The other young England goalkeeper Gary Bailey will never make the grade so I think Ron should put John straight into the side now.

Richard Pannell (12), Uxbridge, Middlesex.

IT'S AN early bath for you! John has a bright future ahead of him but Ray and Peter will be England's custodians for a few years yet.

City's title by 1983

WHAT DO you think of my prediction that Manchester City will in the First Division title in the next three years?

No I'm not a raving City lunatic. I just think John Bond is on the right lines.

Liverpool went to Maine Road earlier in the season and won 3-0, but they would have a tougher job now. I am a Liverpool fan, but rate City highly.

WINNER

I'M SICK of the critics who praise a team one week and then slam them the next.

One blatant example of this came after the recent Spurs v West Bromwich Albion game at White Hart Lane.

Reporters had been labelling Spurs as a very good entertaining team and telling us that they were on the right lines — but after one poor display against Albion they were blasted.

I found one reporter, who a week earlier had praised the team, saying that it was not the stand that wanted rebuilding but the team.

I admit they were poor on that day and deserved to lose but one bad performance is no excuse for this kind of behaviour by some members of the press.

Mariner has everything

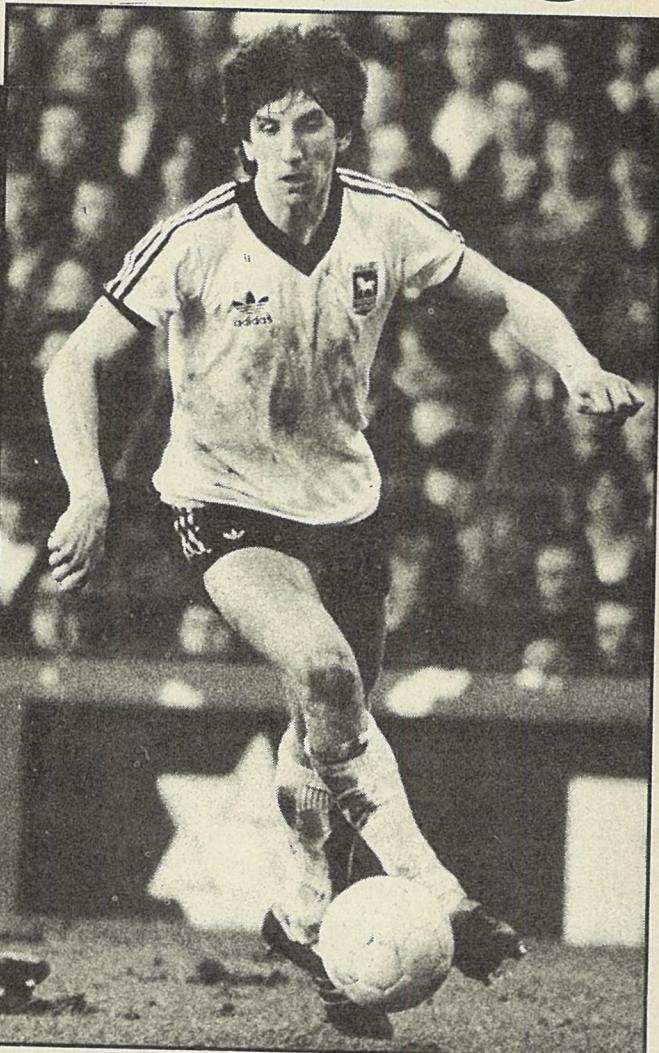

PLAYING as a striker in the World's toughest league requires very special qualities — and Ipswich's Paul Mariner has them all!

He shows strength and bravery when he goes up for 50-50 balls against big defenders like Southampton and England's Dave Watson, and skill on the ground.

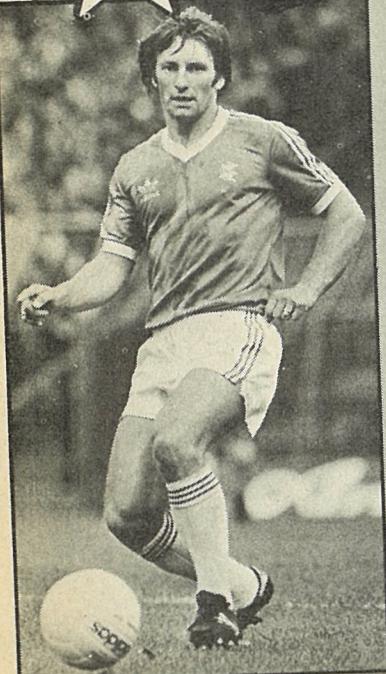

His should be the first name that England manager Ron Greenwood pencils into his side.

Stephen Black (13), Harlow, Essex.

TERRACE TALK★

TODD FOR ENGLAND

I AM sad to see England manager Ron Greenwood continually leaving Birmingham City's Colin Todd out of the side.

Many people thought he had taken a backward step when he moved from Everton to Second Division Birmingham last season — but he has proved them wrong.

"Todd" knew what he was doing and his immaculate performances with skipper Joe Gallagher at the heart of the 'Blues' defence pushed them back into the First Division.

And he has proved that he can still cope with the pressure of life at the top. Surely he's worth another chance in the England team.

Carl Foster, Newtown, Birmingham.

Left: Colin Todd of Birmingham is still good enough to play for England, says Carl Foster of Birmingham.

White hot lane!

I'M ANGRY with people who complain that there's not enough entertainment in the game.

If they want to be thrilled they ought to come down to White Hart Lane where they will get good entertainment and plenty of goals.

Julian Langhan (14), Romford, Essex.

Salute Everton

EVERTON have not had enough praise for their achievements this season.

Last term they looked a really poor side, but they have pulled themselves together and are challenging for the First Division Championship.

All you hear about on Merseyside is Liverpool. I know they are the current League champions, but it is great to see the 'Toffees' back in contention.

Rose Burke (14), Kirkdale, Liverpool.

TOP THREE GUNNERS

WHY DO people always knock Arsenal?

People have accused them of being boring, but they are no more negative than many other teams away from home and have contributed to some exciting matches this season. Who else has won 5-0 away from home this season?

As for being inconsistent; fourth place in the First Division isn't the form of a poor team.

Arsenal will finish in the top three this season.

Stephen Lollis (16), Dorchester, Dorset.

FACES

Steve McMahon

Everton's new Ball

EVERTON'S John Gidman is glad his father didn't follow up an interest in the young fair haired lad making a name for himself in the Liverpool Boys team.

For it would have robbed him of team mate Steve McMahon, who, in only his first season of League football, looks destined to follow in the footsteps of his idol, Alan Ball.

Gidman was starring and his father scouting for Aston Villa when the Midlands club was first alerted to McMahon's talent. Mr Gidman snr called round to persuade Steve to go for trials at Villa Park.

The youngster was out and the scout never returned — leaving the way clear for Steve to sign apprentice forms for Everton, a club he had supported from an early age and a club who always seem blessed with top class midfield players.

Steve looks like carrying on that tradition despite a heart-breaking debut at Sunderland on the opening day of the season. He had to leave the field with damaged ankle ligaments and it looked like his chance of a first team run had gone.

The medical staff at Goodison worked overtime to get him fit for the home game with Leicester days later. He started and finished that game and has kept his place ever since.

That first game at Sunderland wasn't totally forgettable for 19-year-old Steve.

He explains: "The atmosphere was terrific. Mick Lyons told me to take it all in and remember it because there is no greater incentive after playing in the reserves before 200 people than the thought of performing before a full house in the first team.

"I am certain the atmosphere in the First Division makes the game flow faster. The crowd gets you going and you chase and fight that bit harder. But I find I can cope with the pace — I've always been able to run around a lot."

Steve was a striker as a schoolboy but since signing for Everton at the age of 16 he seems to have played everywhere else.

"I've played for the reserves at the back and in midfield but I think I am a midfield man for good now," said Steve.

"I like to be involved and it's great playing alongside someone like Asa Hartford. I didn't realise before that he is such a good player."

John Gidman in action against Ipswich's Eric Gates and Alan Brazil . . . his father spotted Steve's potential.

McMahon (right) celebrates Asa Hartford's winner against Sunderland at Goodison.

Mick Lyons . . . sound advice for Steve.

DONCASTER Rovers may not be one of the most fashionable clubs around but the fourth division side are adding some colour to their image.

From a newspaper style information guide, they have switched to a more traditional type full of club news and views.

The colourful centre page spread including the teams is particularly eye catching and there is plenty for the supporter to digest over his cup of Bovril on a biting northern day.

At 25p it may be on the dear side as far as fourth division programmes go, but the Belle Vue club have attempted to provide value for money.

GOLDEN GOAL

That's a cracker, Noel!

NOEL BROTHERSTON (N Ireland) v Wales, British Home International championship, Ninian Park, Cardiff, May 23, 1980.

BLACKBURN Rovers' fleet-footed winger Noel Brotherston will never score a more important goal than the cracker which won Northern Ireland their first outright championship for 66 years.

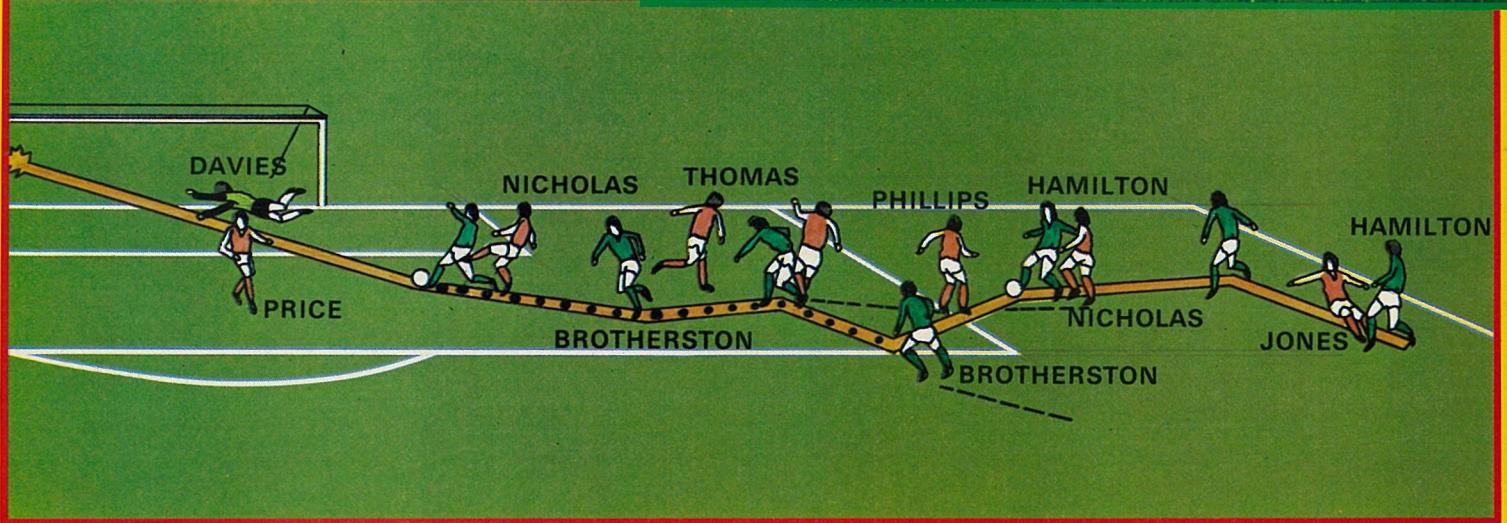

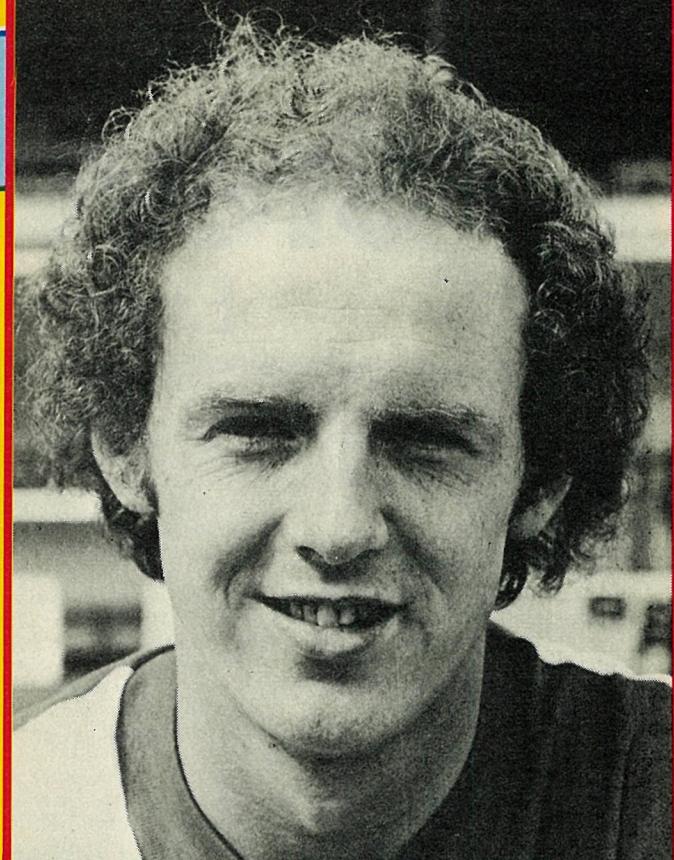

Having beaten Scotland 1-0 in Belfast and surprisingly held England to a one-all draw at Wembley — where incidentally Brotherston had deflected a shot into his own goal — the Irish knew what they had to do. Only two points would be good enough.

Noel told Match: "Earlier in the game I'd missed a reasonably easy header and I thought the game and the championship might get away from us.

"But then Jimmy Nicholl played a ball down the line and Billy Hamilton did well to get past the full back. He cut inside and played it back to me. I went one way, then the other and sent a good left foot shot past Dai Davies.

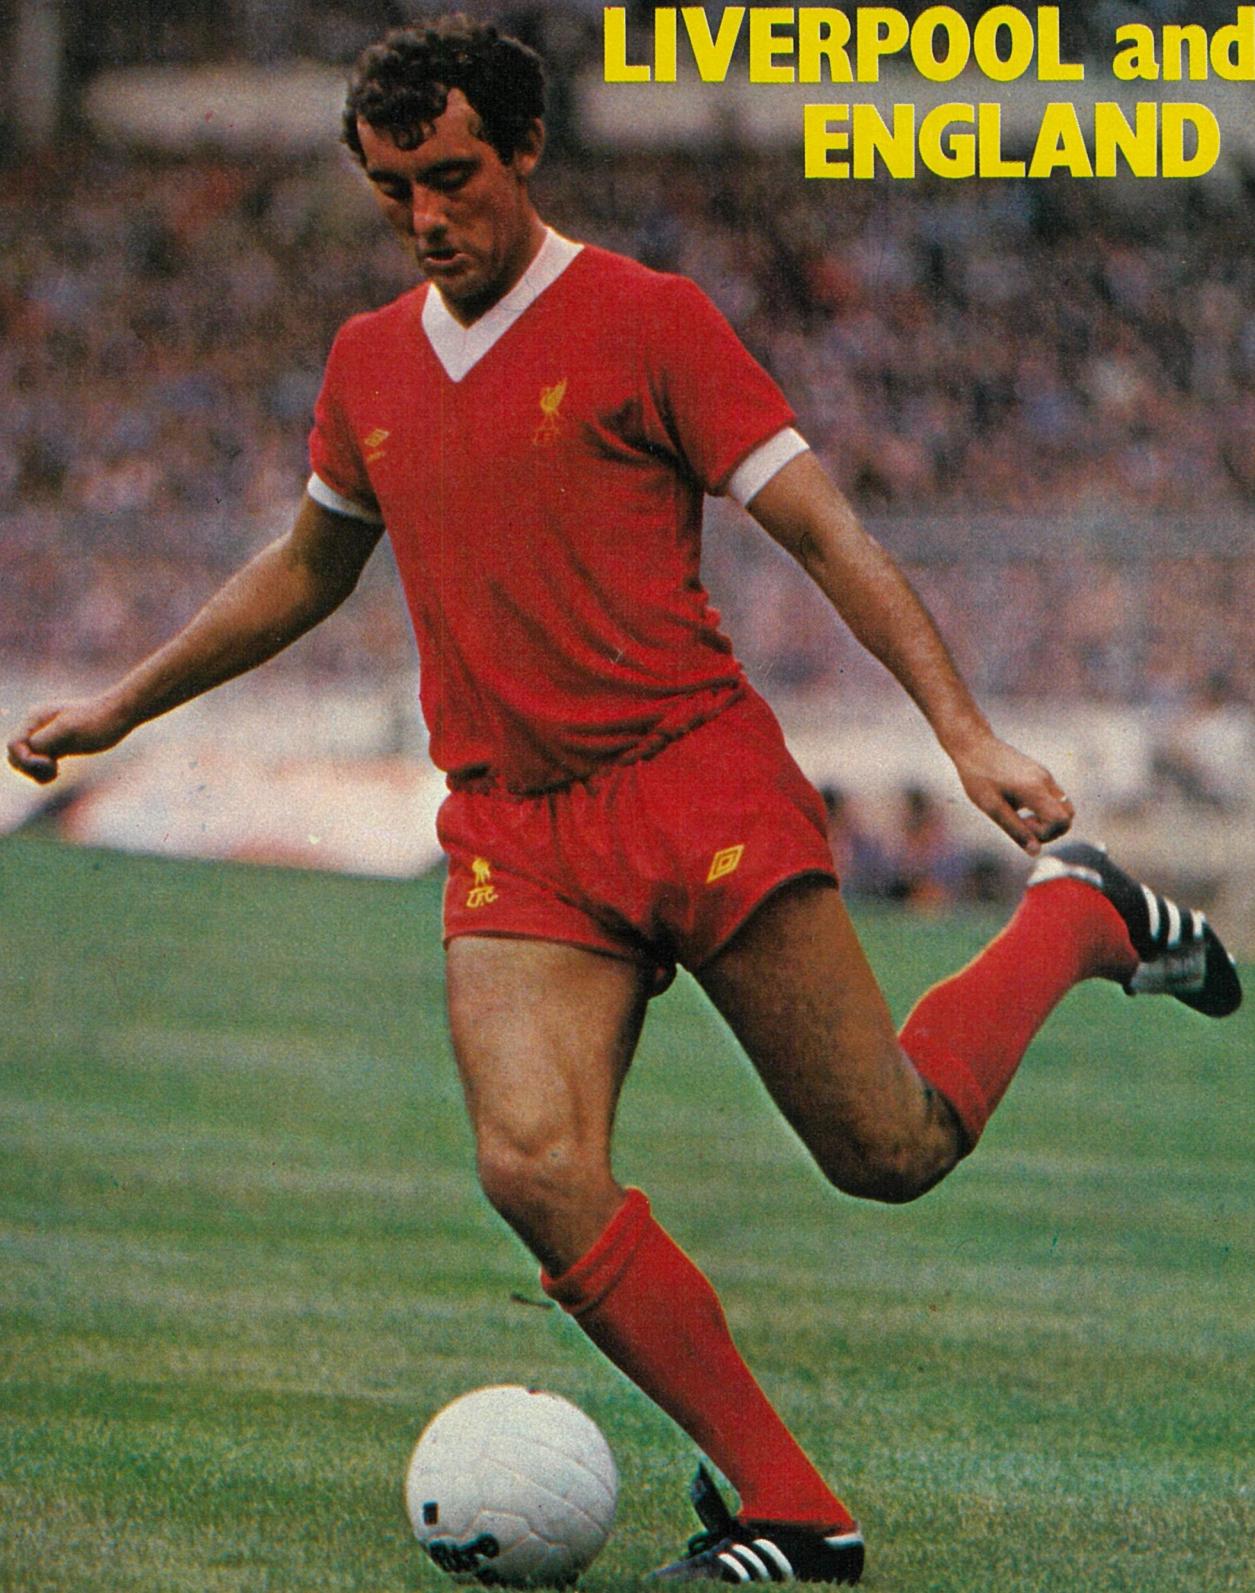

"Everyone, especially the manager, was very emotional afterwards and to celebrate the championship we were invited to my home town in Belfast, where a special gold medal was given to each member of the team because our victory came in the 100th year of the Irish FA's history.

Right: Noel Brotherston in action for the Irish during their 1-home International draw with England, whose Alan Devonshire (right) was making his home debut for his country. Also giving chase are Gerry Armstrong and Chris Nicholl.

THE TOP STARS
 PREVIEW THE BIG
 CHRISTMAS CLASHES

KEVIN DILLON

Birmingham v Sunderland

DON'T be surprised if there are some Geordie sounding cheers for Birmingham when the Blues entertain Sunderland on Saturday (Dec 27).

For Birmingham mid-field starlet Kevin Dillon (in action above) hails from Sunderland and used to support them as a kid. The fact that he was rejected by the Roker Park club adds even more spice to this Christmas story.

"I've got nothing to prove to Sunderland," Kevin told Match. "I'll be more concerned about how many of my friends from the north east are up in the stands watching.

"They'll be rooting for me because I don't think there's anybody in the Sunderland team now who comes from there."

"My family will be at the game and they'll be cheering for Birmingham but my uncle will probably wish for a draw — he's a regular at Roker Park."

Kevin doesn't mind playing when the rest of us are on holiday enjoying ourselves — "after all we get plenty of leisure time the rest of the year," he said.

Crackerjacks!

SAMMY McILROY

Man Utd v Liverpool

THERE'S sure to be one less spectator at the Big Boxing day clash between Manchester United and Liverpool than there was for last year's epic encounter.

For Sammy McIlroy was forced to miss that game after being sent off at Nottingham Forest the week before and he had to endure a nail biting 90 minutes in the stands before his side eventually ran out 2-1 winners.

Sammy will be more active this time and not surprisingly he's hoping for a similar result. He said:

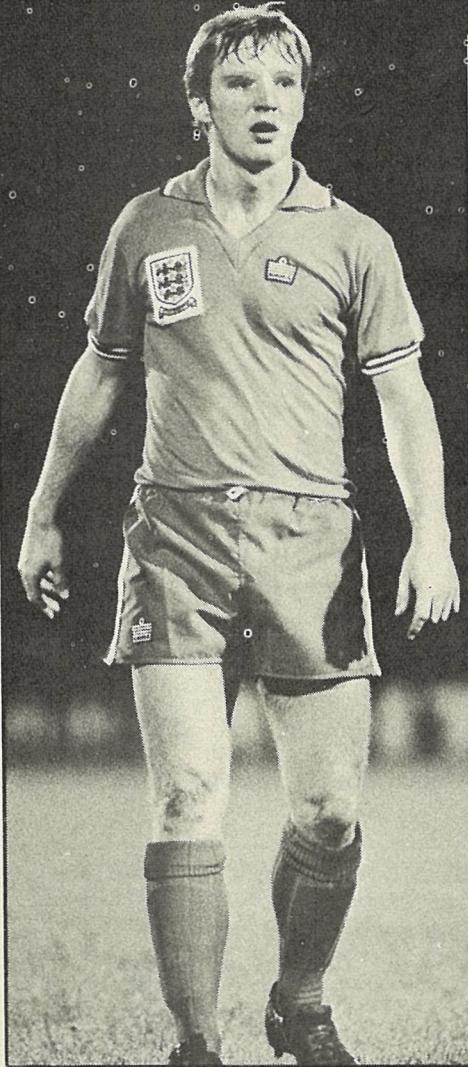

"Whenever you play Liverpool you always know it's going to be a hard game. But as this one is at Old Trafford we must have a slight edge."

There could be no harder preparation for the game than a night spent in an hotel

"You accept it because football's your living." Sammy added. "But it would be nice to spend Christmas night with your family.

"One thing's for sure, the festive spirit won't be carried over on to the pitch. Everybody will be going in as hard as usual."

Sammy McIlroy . . . 'there'll be no festive spirit on the field.'

PAUL GODDARD

QPR v West Ham

PAUL Goddard steps on to the Loftus Road pitch he knows so well for the Boxing Day clash he has looked forward to all season.

The cliche 'I only look ahead to the next game' has not been part of the West Ham striker's vocabulary this term.

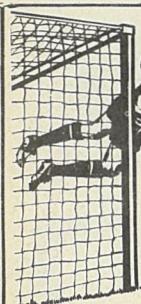

"When I saw we were playing my old side QPR on Boxing Day it started the butterflies and I've been looking forward to it so much," Paul told Match.

"I hope to do well and obviously I want West Ham to win. But if it's a good fair tussle then I'll be happy.

"I remember the game last year was played to a full house and I expect Friday's to be the same. I'm also looking forward to a good reception from the Rangers' fans — they were always very good to me while I was there.

"It's no hardship playing at Christmas — after we get a long break in the summer. I think it's worse on your family and I'm hoping to be able to spend Christmas night with them."

Paul Goddard . . . 'I've been looking forward to this.'

TACKLE A STAR

John Fowler,

Mansfield, asks: "What is the difference between football in Argentina and England, and how long will you stay in this country?"

THE MAJOR difference, John is in speed. The English game is much faster and I find it difficult keeping up sometimes! It's tighter in Argentina as well. All the skilful players are marked heavily. I can't say how long I'll stay here, it depends on a number of things. At the moment I'm happy.

This Week

ALEX SABELLA LEEDS UNITED

Dennis Thwaite,

London, asks: "Who has been the biggest influence on your career?"

IT'S got to be my father Luis, who encouraged me to play as much football as I could from the age of three.

Joan Stirk,

Sheffield: "What do you think of the chances of Argentina and England in the 1982 World Cup?"

ARGENTINA must be the best team in the world at the moment but England has a very good chance of getting to the Final. With West Germany, these two teams are the world's top three. England have some very good players and were unlucky in the European Championships.

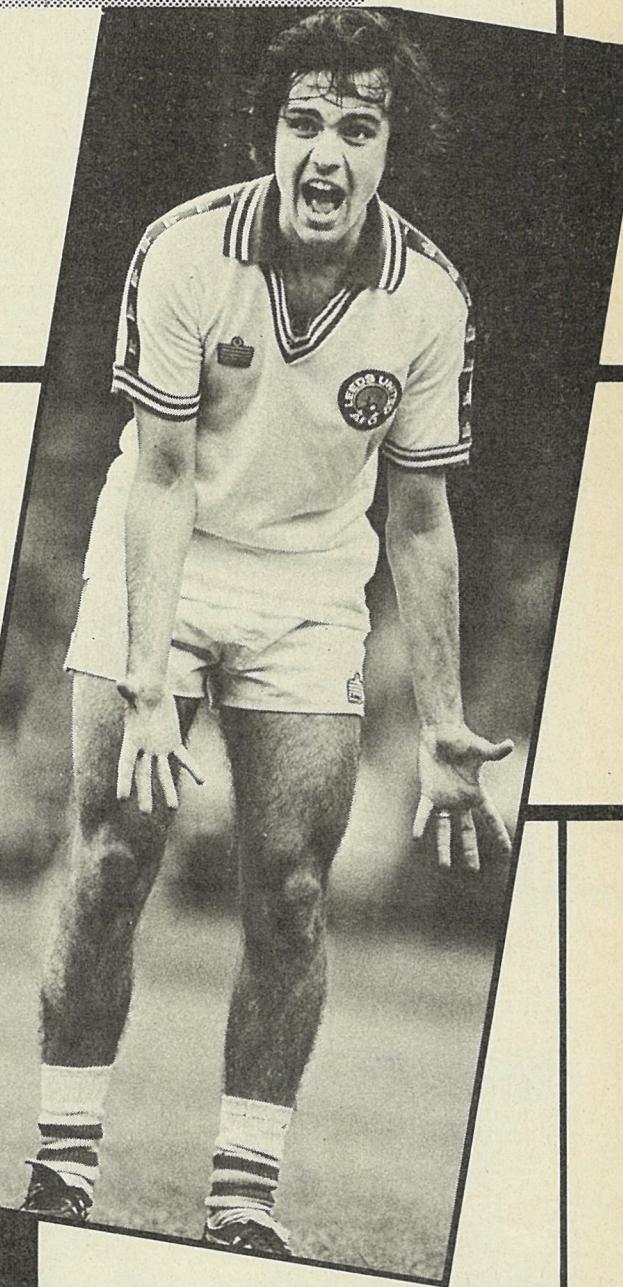

Theresa Donovan,

Crawley, Sussex, asks: "What is the best goal you have ever scored?"

IT WAS when I was playing for River Plate against Bladens in the Argentinian League in 1977. I collected the ball in my own half, dribbled past five players, and slid the ball past the 'keeper as he came out.

Mike Lewin,

Carlisle, asks: "How do you relax away from football?"
IF I'M tired, Mike, I rest. If not I go shopping with my wife Viviana and baby daughter Vanessa. I don't enjoy it but my wife does! I also enjoy listening to Abba, the Carpenters and Barry Manilow.

Kevin Stimson,

Leeds: "What was your reaction when new manager, Allan Clarke, dropped you and said results were more important than entertainment?"

OBVIOUSLY no one likes getting dropped, Kevin, but I understood what the manager was trying to say. I agree that results must come first. Football is a very professional business, and it's important to win because then you get more money.

... And here's the answer to the 'Complete the table' teaser ...

DERBY COUNTY

SAIN

SOUTHAMPTON manager Lawrie McMenemy uncovered a gem when he went to watch his son play in the school football team.

However, it was not his own offspring who caught Lawrie's attention, but a young Croydon-born lad with a deadly eye for goal.

And now — eight years later — Steve Moran is turning his promise into First Division goals.

He burst on to the scene with seven goals in his first eight League games after scoring on his debut against Manchester City last season.

But Lawrie McMenemy is not worried that the 20-year-old's success will go to his head. He says: "Steve has a long way to go yet and he's sensible enough to realise it."

Indeed Steve's sensible approach to life saw him resist an opportunity to join Southampton when he was 16 years old. He preferred to complete his 'A' level studies at school before going to The Dell.

Steve was brought up near Southampton at Fareham and was in the same Prices College side as Wayne Pratt, who recently made his Southampton debut against Leeds.

He was so successful at school that he was offered a place at Bath University, but when the Saints came in for him again he decided his future lay in football.

With big names such as Kevin Keegan, Mike Channon and Charlie George firmly established it looked as if Steve would have to be satisfied with the occasional substitute appearance this season.

But injuries have let him into the side and he is now establishing himself as a regular first team member.

"If Steve continues to work at his game, he will always get goals — he's that type of player," says his manager.
